“What should good student writing at this grade level look like?”

The answer lies in the writing itself.

The Writing Standards in Action Project uses high quality student writing samples to illustrate what performance to grade level standards looks like—in action.

See descriptions of these standards in the right column of the next page.

Highlights:
This sample of student work meets grade level standards. It demonstrates the following attributes of effective writing.
The sample:
• Reveals a clear, sustained persona
• Includes vivid sensory imagery and figurative language
• Uses effective, precise vocabulary and an elevated style
• Exhibits organization and style appropriate to the task, purpose, and audience

STANDARDS-BASED COMMENTARY
The student writing sample that follows includes standards-based commentary. The commentary found in this column describes how the writing meets the standards in the Massachusetts Curriculum Framework for English Language Arts and Literacy (2017) and other content frameworks when applicable.

Understanding the Standards-Based Commentary
1. Grade-specific standards addressed are:
   • Listed in the column to the right of student work by strand, grade, and number (or number and letter, where applicable)
   • Marked by a colored block with a letter code, also in the column to the right of student work
   EXAMPLE: A

2. Colored arrow blocks beneath each standard in the right column:
   • Are of the same color and letter code as the block that marks the standard being addressed
   • Mark standards-based commentary related to the standard being addressed
   • Appear in alphabetical order
   EXAMPLE: A1

3. Corresponding colored arrow blocks within the text:
   • Set off sections of student work to which commentary applies
   • Do not necessarily appear in alphabetical order—but where evidence of a particular standard exists
   EXAMPLE: (begin) A1 section A1 (end)

In this sample...

In this poem, the writer lends a patina of joy and wonder to the autumn flight of a falling leaf. With the help of sophisticated figurative and sensory language, the reader can imagine the experience of twirling towards the ground and being lifted by the breeze high above my maple tree. The writer’s choice of first person point of view creates a sense of immediacy, and the skillfully executed poetic form is the matrix of the poem’s focused, coherent structure.

The Tale of a Leaf

A swift, chapping breeze runs through the maple tree, making a soft rustling noise like gentle waves in the sea.

Understanding the Standards-Based Commentary

The student writing sample that begins on this page includes in this column standards-based commentary describing how the writing meets the standards in the Massachusetts Curriculum Framework for English Language Arts and Literacy (2017) and other content frameworks, when applicable. Where they apply, substandards marked by letters are included.

Evidence for the commentary is noted in the text of the student writing using color-coded, numbered ‘begin’ and ‘end’ arrows.

For example:

A1 marks the beginning and A1 marks the end of the relevant section in the text.

Please note that the labeled arrows in the text do not necessarily appear in alphabetical order.

Writing. Grade 7, Standard 3:

W.7.3.a

Engage and orient the reader by establishing a context and point of view and introducing a narrator and/or characters; organize an appropriate narrative sequence.

A Examples: 1 - 2

The writer introduces a first person narrator and creates an easy-to-follow event sequence, beginning with the leaf embarking on its journey (And I, the oldest, gently detach and twirl towards the ground,) and ending with the leaf’s reflections on its experiences (The stories I will tell of my daring escapade and a new sprit I have found, For here I twirl ’round this breathtaking sunset, the truest joy of fall, ’round, ’round, ’round!).

The leaves of my majestic tree are crinkly and browning, and I, the oldest, gently detach and twirl towards the ground.

As I near the musty forest floor covered in red, orange, and yellow,

The king buck of the forest emits a loud bellow.

W.7.3.b and W.7.3.d

W.7.3.b
Use narrative techniques, such as dialogue, pacing, and description, to develop experiences, events, and/or characters.

W.7.3.b
Use precise words and phrases, relevant descriptive details, and figurative and sensory language to establish a mood that evokes an emotion, to capture action, and to convey experiences or events.

B1 Examples: 1 · 2

The writer suggests that a falling autumn leaf is symbolic of a life cycle in its latter stages (And I, the oldest, gently detach and twirl towards the ground.), still incomplete and joyful (The stories I will tell of my daring escapade and a new spirit I have found...).

B2 Examples: 1 · 2 · 3 · 4 · 5

The writer creates moods that change as the leaf continues on its journey: solemnity (… my majestic tree… The king buck of the forest emits a loud bellow…), exhilaration (I fly high above my maple tree… sail oh so very high.), and anticipation (The stories I will tell…).

B3 Examples: 1 · 2 · 3 · 4

The writer incorporates in each stanza a rhyme scheme similar to that found in stanza one (tree/sea… browned/ground).

B4 Examples: 1 · 2

The writer uses carefully placed alliteration (… twirl towards… forest floor).
A swift breeze pulses through the peaceful air,

Sending shivers down a gray squirrel’s soft tufts of hair.

And me, the aged, brown, pockmarked leaf,

I fly high above my maple tree, above rooftops, above an eve,

The taste of crisp, fresh air surrounds me as I rise into the sky,

And sail oh so very high.

Writing. Grade 7, Standard 3:

B5 Examples: 1 · 2 · 3

The writer uses simile (…a soft rustling noise like gentle waves in the sea…), personification (I fly high above my maple tree…), and metaphor (…travel into a spectrum of rubies and orange sapphires…) to create images that contribute to the mood and tone of the poem.

B6 Examples: 1 · 2 · 3 · 4 · 5

The writer uses sensory language effectively (…a soft rustling noise… loud bellow… sending shivers… taste of crisp, fresh air… spectrum of rubies and orange sapphires, and amazing sight…).

Writing. Grade 7, Standard 4:

C W.7.4

Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.

C1 Overall text reference

Establishes a clearly delineated stanza form.

Note: Comment refers to the piece as a whole rather than a specific example within the text.

C2 Overall text reference

Entertains and informs the reader through the easy-to-follow epic flight of the personified leaf.

Note: Comment refers to the piece as a whole rather than a specific example within the text.
Ah, me, the ancient, frail leaf, in this epic flight,
I sigh as it travel into a spectrum of rubies and orange sapphires, and amazing sight,
The stories I will tell of my daring escapade and a new spirit I have found,
For here I twirl 'round this breathtaking sunset, the truest joy of fall,
‘round, ‘round, ‘round!

Language. Grade 7, Standard 1:
L.7.1
Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking; retain and further develop language skills learned in previous grades.

Overall text reference
The writer makes few errors in grammar and usage, and they do not detract from the clarity of the text.

Note: Comment refers to the piece as a whole rather than a specific example within the text.

Language. Grade 7, Standard 2:
L.7.2.a
Use a comma to separate coordinate adjectives (e.g., a fascinating, enjoyable movie).

E Examples: 1 · 2
The writer inserts commas between coordinate adjectives (...the aged, brown, pockmarked leaf... the ancient, frail leaf...).

Language. Grade 7, Standard 5:
L.7.5
Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships, and nuances in word meanings.

F Examples: 1 · 2 · 3
Throughout the poem the writer utilizes words precisely to convey nuanced descriptions of events (...breeze runs through the maple tree... The king buck of the forest emits a loud bellow... a gray squirrel's soft tufts of hair).
