

Many different microscopic organisms can be found in pond ecosystems, including the three organisms shown in the diagrams below. The primary cellular structures in each of these single-celled organisms are labeled in the diagrams. Some of the structures are common to all three organisms and other structures are not.

Organism 1

Organism 2

Organism 3

(Note: Cells are not to scale.)